What is the Merit System?

The Merit System is part of New York State Civil Service Law, designed as a method of recruiting, appointing and promoting staff by allowing them to compete for positions based on merit and fitness -- wherever possible through a competitive examination process.

In 1883, New York State was the first state in the nation to implement such a system, which has proven to be a foundation of modern government, and for well over a century, merit and fitness has been the yardstick by which career State employees are hired and promoted. Through this system, public employees are chosen on the basis of their competence. The high standards envisioned by the system's founders are a reality today and hold bright promise for the future.

Governor Theodore Roosevelt, who later became President, was a firm proponent and moving force in the establishment of the merit system and it was during the tenure of Governor Al Smith that the Department of Civil Service was established to handle the functions of finding, developing and retaining the people best qualified to do the work of New York State's government.

In addition to providing the State with a trained, capable and motivated workforce, Civil Service plays a key role in assisting the Governor and the Legislature in developing human resource policies. In addition, the Department partners with the Governor's Office of Employee Relations in strategically planning for the workforce of tomorrow.

Examinations

There are four types of examinations that the Department of Civil Service offers:

- Open-competitive
- Promotion
- Transition
- Continuous Recruitment

Open-competitive examinations are open to anyone who possesses the minimum qualifications as listed on the examination announcement. Although generally thought of as examinations that are “open to the public”, State employees are also eligible to take them if they meet the minimum qualifications.

Promotion examinations are open to permanently appointed State employees. There are two types of promotion exams, interdepartmental and departmental. Interdepartmental examinations are open to permanent qualified employees across agencies. Departmental promotion examinations are open to permanent State employees of a specific agency.

Transition examinations are open to permanently appointed State employees. They are used to allow State employees to "transition" from one career to another.

Continuous Recruitment examinations may be either open-competitive or promotional. They are used when there is a constant need to fill positions.
Eligible Lists

After an examination has been held, candidates who have passed are placed on an eligible list.

Candidates are placed on the eligible list in descending score order.

Candidates are selected off of the eligible list using the rule of three.

The rule of three means that agencies count down the first three people on the list. These three people plus anyone else at the third person’s score are the eligibles they can consider.

For example: Here is an eligible list:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Score</th>
<th>Name</th>
<th>#</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>100</td>
<td>Mary</td>
<td>#1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>95</td>
<td>Bill</td>
<td>#2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>95</td>
<td>Steve</td>
<td>#2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>95</td>
<td>Mike</td>
<td>#2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>90</td>
<td>Sue</td>
<td>#5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>90</td>
<td>Alice</td>
<td>#5</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Count down the first three people on the list. This brings you to Steve. Mary, Bill and Steve are eligible to be considered plus anyone else at Steve’s score, which in this case includes Mike. Therefore the candidate pool is Mary, Bill, Steve, and Mike.

Probation

When appointed off of an eligible list into a permanent position, employees will serve a probationary period. In general, the length of the probation period is six to 12 months.

Leaves of Absence

If you are currently a permanent employee and have been appointed from an eligible list, you may be entitled to a leave of absence from your current position.

There are two types of leaves of absence available to permanent employees: mandatory and discretionary.

Mandatory leaves of absence are those required by Civil Service Law or policy. Mandatory leaves are granted to employees who are:

- promoted or transferred to a position in which they must serve a probationary period
- appointed to a temporary, provisional, or contingent permanent basis to another position within their agency
- absent for reasons specified in the Military Law
- unable to perform the duties of their position due to disability
Discretionary leaves may be granted by an agency for up to two years and are at the “discretion” of the agency. Discretionary leaves may be requested for educational leave or to accept a provisional or temporary appointment in another agency.

When or if you return from a mandatory or discretionary leave, your rights are to the title you held in your agency and county of employment. There is no obligation on the part of the agency to give you your old job back.

Transfers

A transfer is the movement of a permanent competitive class employee from a position in one title to a position in a different title or from a position in one agency to a position in another agency. Both positions must be within the competitive class. Transfers occur with the consent of the employee after nomination by the appointing agency and the approval of the Department of Civil Service. Approval by the agency from which the employee is transferring is not required in order for the transfer to occur.

To be able to transfer, employees must generally have had at least one year of permanent service in their current title or at their current salary grade. The transfer can be to the same or any lower salary grade, but cannot be to a title more than two salary grades (or one M grade) higher than their current title. Employees who are currently serving probation are eligible to transfer. Transfers may not be approved if mandatory reemployment lists exist for the title to which transfer is sought.

The Civil Service Law (CSL) defines three different kinds of transfers:

CSL Section 70.1 allows transfer without further examination from one title to another when a sufficient degree of similarity exists between the minimum qualifications, tests and/or duties of the specific titles involved. The appropriateness of transfer is decided on a title-by-title basis at the request of personnel offices of state agencies. This section of the law also allows employees to transfer to another agency in the same title.

CSL Section 70.4 allows transfer to a title which is not similar, but where the employee meets the qualifications for the title. Usually the employee must pass an examination open to the public for the title before transfer can be approved.

CSL Section 52.6 allows transfer between administrative titles at the same or similar salary grade. Administrative titles are those involving law, personnel, budgeting, methods and procedures, management, records analysis, or administrative research.
VOCABULARY WORDS AND TERMS

CLASSIFIED SERVICE
Positions in the civil service that are not in the unclassified service; the classified service is divided into four jurisdictional classes: competitive, non-competitive, exempt, and labor.

COMPETITIVE CLASS
The jurisdictional class composed of positions for which it is practicable to determine the merit and fitness of applicants by competitive examination. Positions are in the competitive class unless the Civil Service Commission specifically places them in a different jurisdictional class (see Section 44 of the Civil Service Law).

CONTINGENT PERMANENT APPOINTMENT
A permanent appointment or promotion to a position left temporarily vacant by the leave of absence of the permanent incumbent of the position; such appointees have the same rights as permanent appointees; a contingent permanent employee may be displaced by the return of the permanent incumbent. (The term contingent permanent is not used in the Civil Service Law or Rules; rather, rule 4.11 refers to "permanent appointments to encumbered positions.")

ENCUMBENT
Permanent employee who has rights to the position ("hold") but is actually working in another position.

EXEMPT
The jurisdictional class of positions deemed impracticable to fill by tests of any kind. No minimum training and experience requirements are established for exempt positions. There is only a small percentage of jobs in the exempt jurisdictional class and employees in these positions have no civil service rights.

INCUMBENT
Permanent employee currently serving in a position. A permanent employee on leave from a position is said to encumber a position.

LABOR CLASS
The jurisdictional classification designated for positions for which competitive tests are impracticable because of the unskilled nature of the duties. Minimum qualifications for labor class positions are generally not established. However, applicants for positions in this class may be required to demonstrate their ability to do the job.

NON-COMPETITIVE CLASS (NC)
The jurisdictional classification designating positions not in the exempt or labor classes and for which it is found by the Civil Service Commission to be not practicable to ascertain the merit and fitness of applicants by competitive examination. For a position in the non-competitive class, an agency may appoint a person who meets the minimum qualifications of training and experience.
PROVISIONAL APPOINTMENT
A non-permanent appointment to a competitive class position which may be made when there is no appropriate or viable eligible list.

UNCLASSIFIED SERVICE
Positions specified in Section 35 of the Civil Service Law that are outside the jurisdiction of the Civil Service Department. Examples are: elected officers, appointees of the Governor or Legislature, including heads of departments and legislative employees, and employees in professional positions in certain colleges and all those persons whose principal functions are teaching or supervision of teaching in a public school, academy or college, or in the State University.

Information For Employees Seeking Transfer

The Civil Service Law and Rules provide the conditions under which permanent employees in the competitive class may transfer to a different title, agency or geographic location. Employees must take the initiative by contacting agencies directly or by looking for vacancies.

State agencies have broad discretion in choosing to fill a particular job by transfer. To convince agencies to consider them, employees should provide a current resume describing their work experience, educational background and the specific transfer to be used.

What Are Transfers?

A transfer is the movement of a permanent competitive class employee from a position in one title to a position in a different title, or from a position in one agency to a position in another agency. Both positions must be within the competitive class. Transfers occur with the consent of the employee after nomination by the appointing agency and the approval of the Department of Civil Service. Approval by the agency from which the employee is transferring is not required in order for the transfer to occur.

What Are The Requirements For Transfer?

Generally employees must have had at least one year of permanent service in their current title or at their current salary grade, and the transfer can be to the same or any lower salary grade, but cannot be to a title more than two salary grades (or one M grade) higher than their current title. Employees who are currently serving probation are eligible to transfer. Transfers may not be approved if mandatory reemployment lists exist for the title to which transfer is sought.

The Civil Service Law defines three different kinds of transfers:

- Section 70.1 allows transfer without further examination from one title to another when a sufficient degree of similarity exists between the minimum qualifications, tests and/or duties of the specific titles involved. The appropriateness of transfer is decided on a title-by-title basis at the request of personnel offices of state agencies. This section of the law also allows employees to transfer to another agency in the same title.

- Section 70.4 allows transfer to a title which is not similar, but where the employee meets the qualifications for the title. Usually the employee must pass an examination open to the public for the title before transfer can be approved.

- Section 52.6 allows transfer between administrative titles at the same or similar salary grade. Administrative titles are those involving law, personnel, budgeting, methods and procedures, management, records analysis or administrative research.

What Are The Effects Of Transfer On Employee Status?

- Probation and Leave Of Absence - Employees who transfer are usually required to serve a probationary period in the new title. For titles at or below Grade 13, the probationary term is 8 to 26 weeks. For titles at or above Grade 14, the probationary term is 12 to 52 weeks. At the discretion of the new agency, the probationary period may be waived at the time of the transfer. However, employees who transfer to a title which requires a traineeship, must serve the probationary period designated for that traineeship. Employees who transfer and are serving a probationary period must be granted a leave of absence from their former title for the length of their probationary period.

- Standing On Existing Eligible Lists - Employees who transfer and who are on leave from their former title remain eligible for appointment from promotion eligible lists in their former agency until completion of probation. Once the leave expires their names are removed. Standing on general portions of interdepartmental promotion lists or on open-competitive lists is not affected by transfer. Employees who have completed their probation and have served at least 26 weeks in their new agency may request that their names be added to their new agency's departmental portion of an interdepartmental eligible list.

- Retirement Benefits - Status in the Retirement System is not affected by transfer.

- Seniority - A transfer will not affect an employee's seniority date for credit in future promotion examinations or for layoff purposes. However, an employee's layoff rights will be affected after transfer because probationers must be laid off before permanent employees in the same title who are not on probation. For more information about layoffs, refer to the booklet "Information for State Employees Affected By Layoff" available in agency personnel offices.

- Salary - Determining an employee's salary is a complex matter, which is handled by the Office of the State Comptroller through your agency personnel or finance office. Salary determination is further complicated by the different pay scales for the various negotiating units.

- Leave Credits - Upon transfer from one agency to another, personal, sick and vacation leave credits are transferred and employees are entitled to cash payment for unused compensatory time (up to 30 days). However, employees transferring between units or institutions of the same department, (for example within the Office of Mental Health), cannot receive cash payments. Such credits are transferred to the new unit or institution along with personal, sick and vacation leave.

Information for Persons Seeking Reinstatement

Who Can Be Reinstated?

Generally, as a former permanent competitive employee of New York State, you may be permanently reinstated to any competitive class position you once held on a permanent basis, or to any position for which you were eligible for transfer, provided the reinstatement meets the basic criteria below:

1. If you left state service less than one year ago, the reinstatement request from a State agency will usually be approved by the Department of Civil Service provided:
   - the reinstatement will benefit the agency
   - your prior service did not end with a disciplinary action
   - there is no reemployment list for the position

2. If you left state service more than one year ago, the reinstatement must also be approved by the Civil Service Commission.

How Do I Go About Being Reinstated?

The reinstatement rule does not guarantee placement; it only provides eligibility. This means that if an agency wants to hire you, you are eligible to be hired without taking another examination and without having your name on an eligible list. You will be required to serve a probationary period.

It is your job to get State agencies interested in hiring you.

To assist you in your search, the Department of Civil Service offers you the following information and/or services as applicable:

- A determination as to your eligibility for reinstatement based on a review of your history
- A list of titles to which you are eligible to be reinstated, including titles to which you could have transferred
- A review of current eligible lists on which your name appears
- A copy of your employment history with New York State
- A list of pertinent agency websites including http://www.statejobsny.com, which lists current NYS job openings
- Exam announcements for titles for which you may qualify

NOTE: If you left state service while on probation after being appointed from an open competitive eligible list and the list still exists, you should write to the Department of Civil Service, Employment Records Section, and ask to be restored to the list. Include your Social Security number and the name and number (if you know it) of the list. Your request will be reviewed by the Employment Records Section.

If I Am Reinstated, What Will My Salary Be?

Your salary upon reinstatement to your former title will not be less than it was when you resigned. If you are reinstated to a lower title, your salary will be reconstructed. Salaries are determined by the State Comptroller’s Office in conjunction with the hiring agency.
What About Other Rights and Benefits?

SENIORITY

If you are reinstated after a break in service of:

- less than a year, your seniority date will be the original seniority date you had before you resigned.
- more than one year but less than three years, your seniority date will be recalculated and your previous service will be fully credited.
- more than three years, your previous service may be partially credited. The previous service credited will be reduced by the amount of time spent out of service, which is beyond three years. (Example: 7 years of previous State service; 4 years 6 months out of service; 5 years 6 months credited upon recalculation of seniority date.)

RETIREMENT

- If you have at least 5 years of service credit and keep your contributions on deposit when you leave public employment, you are automatically vested. If you then return to public employment prior to retiring, your membership status remains the same.
- If you have less than 10 years of service credit when you leave public employment, voluntarily terminate your membership by withdrawing your contributions, and then rejoin the same retirement system within 5 years of your last date of public service, you are reassigned to the same tier status from which you withdrew.
- If you are not vested (at least 5 years of service credit) when you leave public employment but keep your contributions on deposit, you have up to 7 years to return to public employment to retain your membership. After 7 years, your membership is automatically terminated and your contributions are returned to you.

LEAVE CREDITS

If you are reinstated after a break in service of less than one year, or if you are reinstated by the Civil Service Commission after a break of more than one year, your state service will be considered to be unbroken, and you will continue to earn leave credits at your previous rate. Sick leave credits, vacation credits for which you did not receive a lump sum payment, personal leave credits, and unexpired holiday leave credits are restored. Your vacation anniversary date will be adjusted if the break in service exceeds six months.
